DESCRIPTION: VIEWS ARE PART OF THE SCENERY on this golly-gosh pretty 29.5+/- acre tract of land up along the Blue Ridge above Dahlonega. You're surrounded by the mountains here and beneath the trees, you can see them - blue and green on the high horizon - and can appreciate the opportunity to open up a vista from a choice building site. The Forest is here too - towering majestic white pines, shaggy-barked oaks, mountain laurel, Carolina azaleas, and rhododendron along a fern-carpeted forest floor. The unfolding terrain reminds one that you're in the mountains here and gives you great views. Roughly in the middle of the property is a gentle knoll and a choice spot for a home or cabin. Along the northern boundary of the property flows a clear-watered trout stream - Boggs Creek - downstream only some quarter-mile from the National Forest that it originates in. Access to both Cleveland and Dahlonega and points further south is about equidistant and all the attractions of the Mountains are all in the general area. There's a paved road, telephone/DSL are alongside. A truly beautiful property, choice for a permanent home or recreation.
